BACK PANEL FASTENING FOR KITCHEN ISLAND

When installing a PLATE back panel on a kitchen island, it is important to support the thin aluminium cover panel properly. This is done by mounting a sheet of plywood with a thickness of minimum 12 mm / 1/2" between the cabinets and the PLATE back panel.

Please note that the side cover panels as well as the countertop need to be ordered in a custom size that covers the additional sheet of plywood.
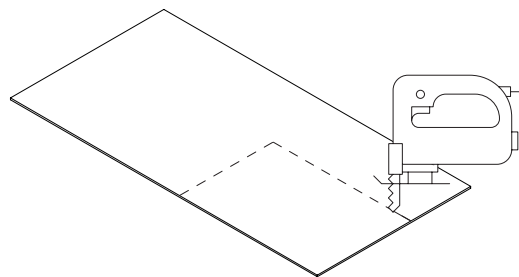

For this installation you need:
- A sheet of plywood (min. thickness of 12 mm / 1/2") (not included)
- Long countersunk chipboard screws (not included)

1

Follow the section about cover panels in the General installation guide "XXB-D-CAB99-DOC001".

2

Trace the size of the back panel onto the sheet of plywood and cut it. The sheet of plywood should be a bit smaller than the cover panel in order to fit in between the two cover panels on each end of the kitchen island.

Please note that the holes in the side of the cabinets should be centered in order for the material not to split when the screws are installed.

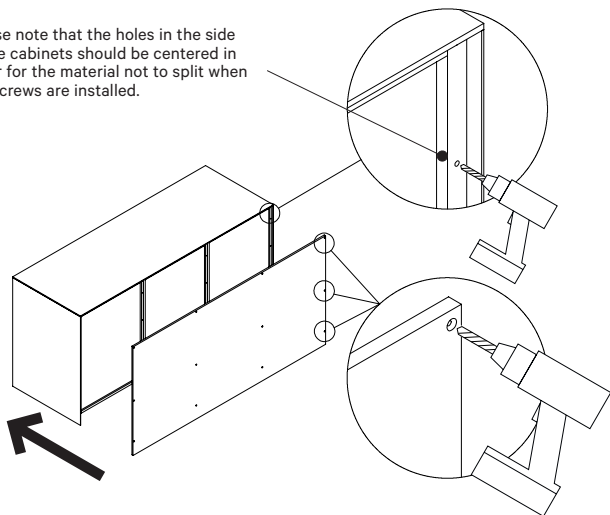

3

Pre-drill holes for the fastening screws in both the cabinets and the plywood sheet. It is recommended to drill 3x holes in a vertical line from the back and into the side of the cabinet for every 60 cm / 2 3/8" in width.

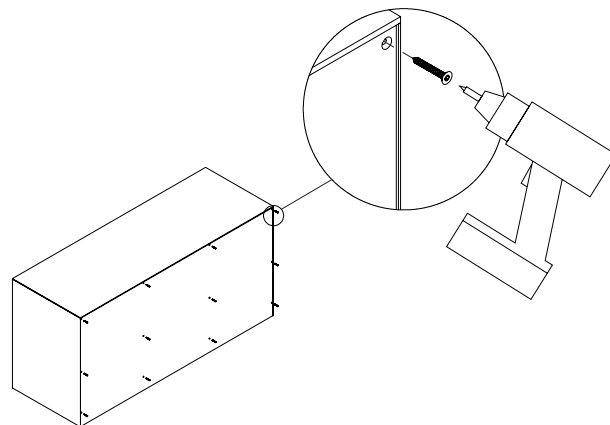

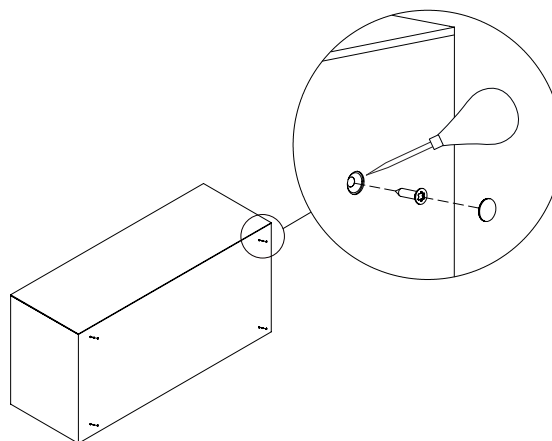

4

Fasten the sheet of plywood onto the back of the cabinets using long countersunk chipboard screws. Make sure the screws are not protruding the surface of the plywood.
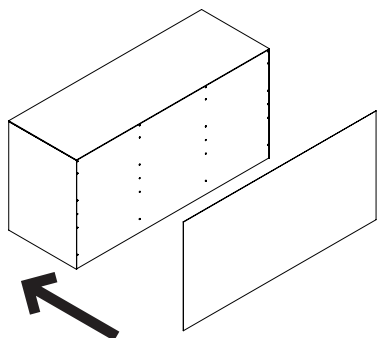

5

The PLATE cover panels have pre-mounted double sided tape. Remove the covering film from the tape, and fasten the cover panel to the plywood sheet.

6

Prepare the holes using a center punch. Fasten the screws and apply the cover sticker.
